What is known as the "black knot" is ruining the plum and cherry trees in many sections of the country. A knot or enlargement appears on the small limbs and twigs, and the vitality of the tree seems to be unfavorably affected, and in about two years most of the trees thus attacked are dead. It is a new enemy to the cherry and plum crop.

A paper to be first-class must receive first-class support. First-class support consists in every subscriber paying his subscription, patronizing the paper, and in every way giving the paper your moral help. Taking and reading it, and not paying for it, will not do. Moral support of itself was never known to run newspapers; moral support cannot be utilized when ink, paper and labor bills are to be paid. The men who work on newspapers are human, and enjoy comfort, beef and cabbage as well as other people.

JOHN M. EBERLE, Proprietor of the Milburns Marble Works, is prepared to furnish Monuments, Tablets and Tombstones 25 per cent. lower than any other establishment in Monroe County. Work from his shops can be seen all over the county.

This morning Mr. Fred Muhlen, when crossing the trestle work of the B. & O. south of the creek discovered considerable smoke coming up through the track and on examination found one of the timbers on which the track rested nearly burned out. It was hollow and decayed and free from any source had gotten into it and the whole inside of the timber was on fire. He secured a bucket and carried water sufficient to douse out the fire, which if discovered might have so weakened the timber by train time as to have endangered life. —Bellevue Tribune, 17th inst.

JERUSALEM ITEMS.

We take the following items from the Enterprise of the 19th inst.:

Wm. J. Moore has built a new addition to his store room, and is now having his entire store painted, which makes it present a neat appearance.

Dr. G. W. Steward has erected a new office on Main street, which helps the looks of that street considerably. He has also repainted his dwelling and so improved the premises that he has one of the finest residences in the town.

Wm. Smith has built a new addition to his hotel.

We are to have a new school house built this summer, the building of which was awarded to Thomas Carleton for $2,150. This is a move of the board of education in the right direction, as we have often needed more room for our children in school.

Last, but not least, we are to have a steam flour mill which is to be built near the depot. John Milburn, Samuel Milburn and Wm. Craig are the proprietors and are men of large experience at the business.

Rev. Mills filled the pulpit very ably Sabbath evening. He is a young man of more than ordinary ability and his sermons are highly appreciated.

Joe Jenkins, of Woodfield, has been in this neighborhood the past few days in connection with an oil company. The quantity wanted is 100 acres, and then they will sink a test well. They have surveyed a line through from Mackburg and they say we lay in the same sand belt as Mackburg. If we can strike as good wells as Mackburg, Noble County, land speculation will be at fever heat.

Democratic National Convention at Chicago.

The B. & O. R. E. will sell round trip tickets to Chicago, at low excursion rates, tickets will be good going July 31 to 7th, inclusive, and will be good returning until July 15th.

You can save 25 per cent. by leaving your orders for Monuments, Headstones, etc., with J. M. Eberle, Proprietor of the Milburns Marble Works. All work and material guaranteed as represented. (Apr. 15th).

The Marietta Leader, 16th inst., says, Chief Engineer Gould was here the first of the week gathering a force of men to set to work on the Ohio Valley road at Ballaire. Grading will be commenced this week and it is expected that a number of contracts will be let soon. Mr. Gould will push the work as rapidly as his instructions from the Pennsylvania company will permit him to do. He has the engineering work done so far as it is now possible to finish it and there will be no delay on that account. Mr. Gould has proved himself to be the right man in the right place.

Monuments, Headstones and Tablets of any design and of any material 25 per cent. cheaper than any other establishment in Monroe or adjoining counties, at the Milburns Marble Works, J. M. EBERLE, Proprietor.

Gladstone's Policy denounced as a Tale of Shame.

London, June 19.—At an important conservative demonstration at Aylesbury last evening, Lord Randolph Churchill said: The government's policy in Egypt is throughout a tale of shame. The English minister is the direct cause of the misery and bloodshed among the offensive people whom it is our mission to protect and civilize. Mr. Gladstone ought to have fostered Arabi Pasha's patriotic movement instead of destroying Alexandria and killing ten thousand Egyptians. After the battle of Tel-el-Khar, England's power in Egypt was greater as her responsibility was greater. But Mr. Gladstone's only thought was how to abandon Egypt. His wavering policy is responsible for the disasters and bloodshed from the defeat of Hicks Pasha to the fall of Berber. Yet Mr. Gladstone selects such a moment to propose the restoration of the French control. British evacuation and advance of £3,000,000 of British taxpayers' money. Such proposals are fatal; they are ruinous to our interests, finance, honor and renown. The minister's impetuosity is without parallel in ancient or modern times.

The latest returns of the Illinois department of agriculture are much less promising than those of a month ago.

Our commissioners should look this matter up, as there are as many ex-soldiers in this county as in any other county in the state, in proportion to the population.

ITEMS.

A. C. ROBINSON, representing the New York oil syndicate, which has leased about 5,000 acres of land in the vicinity of Jacobburg, in this county, is reported as saying that they will sink three test wells this summer to the depth of 1,800 feet. He feels confident of getting oil in paying quantities, and also states that in case the company is successful, a pipe line will be laid to Ballaire where the refineries will be built and the business transacted. —Belmont Chronicle.

The United States in 1884.

YOUTH'S COMPANION. "This is a bad world," President Dwight of Yale used to say to his superior class, "but, gentlemen, it is a good world to do good in."

We were reminded of the President's remark on reading the calculations of another clergyman, Mr. F. B. Lincoe, one of Queen Victoria's chaplains, who has been ciphering out the destiny of the English-speaking world. After doing a number of hard sums he comes to the conclusion that one hundred years from now there will be nearly as many people speaking the English language as there are now inhabitants of the earth.

He figures it up thus: Great Britain and Ireland, seventy millions; South Africa, sixteen millions; Australia, forty-eight millions; Canada, sixty-four millions; the United States, eight hundred millions; total nine hundred and ninety-eight millions.

Having arrived at this enormous result, Lincoe enters upon conjectures as to the kind of people those thousand millions are likely to be. He has remarked in reading the history of the past, that the dream of the philosopher comes true, and he thinks, therefore, that what the best men and women are now striving for with pen, tongue and hand, will be realized in and by the future multitude.

They will be in some degree educated. There will be no class dead to the wisdom of the age, blind to its art, insensible to its aspiration. There will be no estates too large to be a good to the owners, and as a rule the farmer will be the owner of the acres he tills. "Landlordism" as we call it, is a name and is concerned, will not exist. The largest class will be farmers, living on their own land, and holding no more of it than they can utilize.

The nations will live in peace, knowing no rivalry apart from the generous rivalry to excel in the arts and in the virtues. Instead of the constant state of battle for vulgar and odious mastery, the nations will, as Victor Hugo has it, give one another rendezvous at international exhibitions—the "true fields of battle" for civilized men.

There will, of course, be no such thing as rank or caste, but every son of man will stand on all-comers the equal brother of the rest, whether he be conqueror or statesman.

Are these but the idle thoughts of an optimist? That depends upon you, who have the honor to inhabit the English speaking world at the present time. It depends much upon the youngest of us who will stand in the front of that great day, and some of whom will be known as all but contemporaries of the thousand millions who speak our language in 1884.

LOST BY A "T."

How a Leadvillean Lost a Fortune by the Omission of a Single Letter.

Speaking of the influence that small things exert on the affairs of life, and sometimes what stupendous results depend on things that are in themselves so small as to be almost unworthy of notice, a gentleman said to a Leadville Democrat reporter:

"I would hardly be supposed that a single letter, or for that matter any other letter in the alphabet, could have the effect of changing the whole course of a man's life, and possibly causing an effect that would last through eternity."

The scribbler agreed that it did not look as if so small a thing should produce so great an effect."

"Well, it did in my case," said the gentleman. "I'll tell you the circumstances: Some twenty years ago, when I was younger than I am now, I was in Baltimore, Md., and was in correspondence with a gentleman in Michigan in reference to the purchase of a large saw-mill and an extensive tract of heavily timbered land. We had agreed as to terms. I made arrangements to meet him in Saginaw and perfect the trade, and sent him a telegram saying, 'I will meet you there.' I immediately started on my journey to Saginaw, and when I arrived there I found that the gentleman whom I had met in Baltimore had been killed. He had been killed by a train. I did, for Baltimore. On reaching that city he found that I had gone west, but no one knew whether, so he returned home. In the meantime, I had started on my return trip from Saginaw to Baltimore to meet him. When he got home he found another telegram from me, saying, 'I will meet you there.' He immediately started on his journey to Saginaw, and when he arrived there he found that I had been killed.
